Death Comes for the Archbishop (Vintage Classics) By Willa Cather

Willa Cather's best known novel is an epic--almost mythic--story of a single human life lived simply in the silence of the southwestern desert. In 1851 Father Jean Marie Latour comes to serve as the Apostolic Vicar to New Mexico. What he finds is a vast territory of red hills and tortuous arroyos, American by law but Mexican and Indian in custom and belief. In the almost forty years that follow, Latour spreads his faith in the only way he knows--gently, all the while contending with an unforgiving landscape, derelict and sometimes openly rebellious priests, and his own loneliness. Out of these events, Cather gives us an indelible vision of life unfolding in a place where time itself seems suspended.

Editorial Review

From Library Journal

Nebraska pulls out all the stops for this superb scholarly edition of Cather's 1927 novel. This edition includes a newly restored text along with several historical essays and explanatory notes by several scholars.

Academic libraries supporting hardcore American literature curricula will want this volume.

Review

"A truly remarkable book . . . Soaked through and through with atmosphere . . . From the riches of her imagination and sympathy Miss Cather has distilled a very rare piece of literature. It stands out, from the very resistance it opposes to classification." --The New York Times

"The most sensuous of writers, Willa Cather builds her imagined world as solidly as our five senses build the universe around us." —Rebecca West

"[Cather's] descriptions of the Indian mesa towns on the rock are as beautiful, as unjudging, as lucid, as her descriptions of the Bishop's cathedral. It is an art of 'making,' of clear depiction—of separate objects, whose whole effect works slowly and mysteriously in the reader, and cannot be summed up. . . . Cather's composed acceptance of mystery is a major, and rare, artistic achievement." —A. S. Byatt

From the Inside Flap

Willa Cather's best known novel; a narrative that recounts a life lived simply in the silence of the southwestern desert.
